

Lee, Tsai & Partners is recognized as Taiwan Law Firm of the Year and awarded the "Chambers Asia Award for Excellence 2010" by Chambers and Partners

The law firm of Lee, Tsai & Partner has always been known for its legal expertise and providing excellent legal services to its clients. The firm's outstanding performance is widely acknowledged within the legal profession. In fact, the firm has just been selected as the best law firm in Taiwan of the year by Chambers and Partners, and was awarded the "Chambers Asia Award for Excellence 2010".

This is the first year that Chambers and Partners has organized the Chambers Asia Awards for Excellence, and seven prestigious law firms in Taiwan were nominated for the award. Despite the fierce competition from these law firms, Lee, Tsai & Partner was able to emerge as the final winner of the award.

Chambers and Partners have been publishing their world-famous guides to the legal profession since 1990. Through public surveys and client interviews, the professional editors at Chambers and Partners regularly publishes its comprehensive findings on law firms. The finding is based on the aggregate results from evaluating each firm's areas of expertise, organizational structure, service quality, level of clients' satisfaction and other pertinent benchmarks. Additionally, Chambers and Partners organizes annual award ceremony in London and New York where it gives out awards to the world's top attorneys in recognition of their excellence and professionalism. Needless to say, Chambers and Partners is considered to be one of the most authoritative and credible entities in the evaluation and ranking of law firms within the legal profession.

This is the first year that Chambers and Partners conducted the evaluation for selecting the best law firms in Asia. Over two hundred attorneys attended the award ceremony for the Chambers Asia Awards in Singapore on May 1, 2010, and the best law firms for different areas within Asia were announced on the same date.
